2.2.1. Julie Sorhaitz – Intro on Learning Disabilities

Julie Sorhaitz presented on Learning Disabilities & ADHD in High School:
What are Learning Disabilities?

- Learning disabilities (LDs) are brain-based difficulties that affect one or more ways that a person takes in, stores, remembers or uses verbal (speech) and nonverbal (non-speech) information.
- LDs are difficulties in processing information. LDs occur in people with average or above average thinking and reasoning abilities.
- Specific Learning Disorder (DSM-5) - Different from intellectual disabilities, developmental disabilities or neurological or motor disabilities
- LDs are not caused by environmental factors such as language differences or socio-economic status, but those factors may compound the impact of an LD.
- LDs can interfere with learning basic skills such as reading, writing, and math. They can also interfere with higher level skills such as organization, time management and social communication skills.

Types of LDs & ADHD:

- Dyslexia
- Dysgraphia
- Dyscalculia

DURHAM CATHOLIC DISTRICT SCHOOL BOARD

Learning and Living in Faith

- Non-Verbal Learning Disability (NVLD)
- ADHD

LD and ADHD in High Schools

- Students are older:
 - May know their needs & supports better.
 - May have been unsupported longer/more frustrated with academics.
 - May demonstrate difficulty with more advanced reading comprehension and written expression (even when supported) because LD/ADHD often leads to less practice.
 - Challenge finding materials that are age appropriate; technology can help here.
 - Expected to be more independent & manage several different platforms at one time.
 - Expected to track more deadlines independently.

Some suggestions:

- More executive functions support needed.
- Role of morphology (word parts: prefixes, bases, suffixes) and syntax
- Digital materials in all classes (literacy happens everywhere)
- Explicit teaching for exams in the classroom, as often these students are less able to access lunchtime & after school supports.
- Memory aids - Sometimes for direct memory support and sometimes to accommodate for the extra cognitive load required to read, write, and focus.

2.3. Discussion Items

2.3.1. Review IEP Process/IPRC Process (Francesca Mosier)

Individual Education Plan (IEP) Process

- IEPs are developed for a student who has been deemed to require a special education program or services in order to achieve curriculum expectations and/or to demonstrate learning.
- Planning the IEP is accomplished through the combined efforts and in communication with the student, student's parents, staff, and other professionals involved with the student.
- The classroom teacher in consultation with the program support teacher make decisions regarding the program planning of the IEP. (Level of Achievement, Program Goals, Learning Expectations, Teaching Strategies, and Assessment methods.
- A team approach underlies the IEP process and focuses on how the student is expected to progress through the Ontario Curriculum with or without accommodations, modified expectations, and or alternative programs, as well as how the student will make key transitions from grade to grade, elementary to secondary and secondary to postsecondary destination.

Learning and Living in Faith

Overview of the IEP Process

1. Gathering Information
2. Setting the Direction
3. Developing the IEP as it Relates to the Student's Special Education Program and Services
4. Implementing the IEP
5. Review and Update the IEP

Summary of Initial Identification of Placement Review Committee (IPRC) Timelines:

- At no time should a parent/guardian be blocked from requesting an IPRC
- The first option considered by the IPRC for place is "regular class with indirect support" because the Board's service delivery model does not require a student to have an IPRC to access services.
- After an IPRC request, a meeting is usually scheduled within two to three weeks of the request.
- Prior to the IPRC, Principal and/or PST contacts parent/guardian for a preliminary discussion
 - Understanding their rights concerning the IPRC, as explained in the parent's guide.
 - Request additional information that may be relevant to the decision.
 - Review results of assessments and explain any recommendations.
- During IPRC meeting, the Committee will make a decision about identification and placement.
- At least once every school year, IPRC is reconvened to review student's identification and/or placement.

2.3.2. Review 2022-2023 Director's Annual Report (Paula Sorhaitz)
